

Jeff WREN

Executive Vice President Neurology – Patient Value Unit Head

Joined UCB in October 2010

Leaving on October 31, 2019 and handing over to Charl van Zyl

Jeff Wren joined UCB in October 2010. In his current role, which he accepted in March 2015, he is Executive Vice President and Head of UCB's Neurology Patient Value Unit. Jeff is globally responsible for the entire value chain of UCB's Neurology portfolio, from development and medical, to commercialization.

His passion for helping patients suffering from severe diseases translates to a commitment from Jeff and his team to raising the standard of care.

Prior to taking on his current role, between February 2013 and March 2015, Jeff was Senior Vice President UCB and President North America Operations, where he was responsible for providing leadership and strategic direction to the organization's operations in both the US and Canada. Jeff has over 30 years in the pharmaceutical sector in various senior positions.

Jeff served as a member of the Board of Directors for BIO International from late 2014 through early 2016, as well as the Board of Directors for Georgia BIO from 2013 through late 2015. Internally, Jeff served on the Board of Directors for UCB Canada, Inc. and the Board of Directors for UCB, Inc. from February 2013 through March 2015. Currently, Jeff is a member of the Executive Committee of UCB.
